ABSTRACT

Intended to assist the genealogist/family historian in locating and using resources in one of the oldest libraries in northern New England (Dartmouth College Library), this selective annotated bibliography contains over 300 citations related to family history and genealogical research. Following an introductory section, materials are organized under nine subheadings: research materials in the reference room; the library card catalog and online catalog; approaches to genealogical/family research in the subject catalog; research materials in the Baker Library Stacks; census data; selected collections and newspapers in the Jones Microtext Center; the Map Room; special collections in archives, manuscripts, and rare books; and selected research centers. Types of materials listed include manuals and aids; guides, indexes, and records; biographical information; heraldry, peerages, baronetages, gentry, etc.; bibliographies; indexes of names/genealogies; records and documents; histories; serials (journals, magazines, periodicals); and guides to colleges beyond the Dartmouth College Library. An author, subject, and title index concludes the publication. (LH)

INTRODUCTION

The Dartmouth College Library is a major research library serving the College community and other interested researchers.

The Dartmouth College Library is not a genealogical library. The Library does not attempt to collect or maintain an extensive collection of family/local histories or genealogical periodicals. However, as one of the oldest and most distinguished libraries in northern New England, the Dartmouth College Library does have an excellent collection of family history-related research materials. These include a wide variety of reference sources, historical periodicals, New England histories, biographies, British histories, New Hampshire and Vermont census schedules, city directories, newspapers, maps, and many unique manuscripts.

This guide is intended to assist the genealogist/family historian in locating and using these resources in the Dartmouth College Library. It is a very selective bibliography and does not attempt to be exhaustive or complete. We encourage you to examine carefully these recommended titles and to take some time and browse for other interesting and useful genealogical sources. Also, subject headings are noted at the end of most bibliographic citations for the purpose of assisting the researcher in locating similar resources through the Library Card Catalog or the Online Catalog.

Librarians are available in all departments to provide guidance and assistance with research needs. Librarians are unable, however, to perform any type of research for the genealogist/family historian.

We wish you luck as you pursue your family history, and we do hope that this guide will help make your research at the Dartmouth College Library both enjoyable and productive.

GUIDE TO RESEARCH MATERIALS IN THE REFERENCE ROOM

The Reference Room in Baker Library, located at the east end of the main floor, is the best place to begin family history research. Here are located the books that one consults or "refers" to for specific information. These may include encyclopedies, dictionaries, handbooks, directories, or bibliographical guides. In most instances, these tools will lead the researcher to other more detailed resources. Reference books do not circulate.

Reference Librarians are available during scheduled hours to provide guidance and assistance.

MANUALS AND AIDS:

Doane, Gilbert H., and James B. Bell. Searching for Your Ancestors: The How and Why of Genealogy. 5th ed. Minneapolis: University of Minnesota Press, 1980.

Co-authored by the former director of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, this new edition brings up-to-date the classic study of genealogy first published in 1937 by Gilbert Doane, the late "Dean of Genealogy". Earlier editions in Baker Stacks.

THETFORD town (New Hampshire grant of 12 August 1761) was granted the same day as Strafford, the adjoining town on the west. As in Strafford, many of grantees of Thetford were prominent men in Hebron, Connecticut. Among the grantees from there were the Phelps family, of whom no less than fourteen were named in the Thetford grant. One of the Phelps family, Alexander, played an important role in helping Dr. Eleazar Wheelock to found Dartmouth College, and ultimately married Wheelock's daughter. Another Phelps, Samuel, married Lydia Morey, who was a daughter of General Israel Morey and sister of Samuel Morey, the inventor of the steamboat.

For some years it was said that Thetford in Vermont derived its name from the English town of Thetford, the one-time capital of the kings and bishops of East Anglia, and the birthplace of Thomas Paine.

THE LIBRARY CARD CATALOG
ONLINE CATALOG

The Library Card Catalog, located in the main hall of Baker Library, is the principal record of the Dartmouth College Library. In general, all books or monographs located in Baker Library and the seven branch libraries are included in this catalog. For certain categories, such as serial publications (periodicals, magazines, newspapers, etc.), periodical articles, government publications, sheet maps, and manuscripts, special files or printed guides must be consulted.

Two separate sections make up the Library Card Catalog. The cases of the author-title catalog, located at the west end of the main corridor, contain cards which are filed alphabetically by the names of authors and the titles of books; the subject catalog in cases at the east end of the corridor contains cards arranged alphabetically by the subjects of books.

The Online Catalog is a computerized catalog of the holdings of the Dartmouth College Library. When complete, it will contain entries for over 1,000,000 items to include books, serial publications, phonograph records, manuscripts, etc. It will contain all items acquired by the Library since 1964 and many materials received earlier. We encourage you to use this recent innovation, but warn you that the Online Catalog does not represent a complete listing of the Library's holdings. It is still essential to consult the Library Card Catalog and other files and printed guides.

Research Materials In The Baker Library Stacks

The book stacks of Baker Library house over 800,000 volumes of the Library's more than one million volume collection. Books and journals in the subject areas of humanities and social sciences are shelved on nine levels. The entrance to the stacks is the fourth level (main floor). For information concerning access to the stacks, please ask at the Circulation Desk. For a more detailed description of the Library's collections and services, please consult the Guide to the Libraries of Dartmouth College.

The following selective bibliography of research materials located in the Baker Stacks attempts to identify a few of the basic and essential sources for genealogical research and, more importantly, to reveal some of the more unusual and, indeed, fascinating collections of primary records where the family historian may possibly locate a specific ancestor.

SERIALS
(JOURNALS, MAGAZINES, PERIODICALS)

The Dartmouth College Library does not attempt to collect genealogical periodicals (for a comprehensive list of these sources, refer to A Survey of American Genealogical Periodicals and Periodical Indexes [Ref/Z/5313/.U5S65]); however, the Library does maintain an outstanding collection of historical and other family history-related serials. These serials include, for the most part, scholarly research of an analytical nature. Most deal with local history and customs and often include biographical (not necessarily genealogical) information. Many have some type of indexing (often cumulative indexes) that usually contain references to family surnames. All serials are listed on the Library's Online Catalog. The following is a selective listing:

Les Archives de Folklore. Vols. 2-8, 1947-1960
Popular traditions, customs, songs, and stories are an important part of family history.

GUIDES TO COLLECTIONS BEYOND THE DARTMOUTH COLLEGE LIBRARY:

Even though the Dartmouth College Library maintains an outstanding collection of primary and secondary source material both in a printed and microform format, there are numerous resources that are only available from other libraries and archives located throughout the world. The Library does have, however, a substantial collection of the printed guides to these collections. The following list includes those guides housed in Baker Stacks; other guides are located in the Reference Room and the Jones Microtext Center.

Beers, Henry P. Guide to the Archives of the Government of the Confederate States of America. Washington: National Archives & Records Service, 1968.
Describes all the records of the Confederacy available in the National Archives, the Library of Congress, and other repositories (Alabama Department of Archives and History, New York Historical Society, etc.). Companion volume to Guide to Federal Archives Relating to the Civil War. (016.9737/M923g).

Genealogical Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Preliminary Survey of the Mexican Collection. Salt Lake City: University of Utah Press, 1978
One of a series of "Finding Aids to the Microfilmed Manuscript Collections of the Genealogical Society of Utah". "The preliminary survey is planned to give the researcher rather precise information about the holdings of parish and civil registers" [Preface] available in the Mormon Church microfilm collection.
Subject: CHURCH RECORDS AND REGISTERS-MEXICO
(Baker/CD/3678/.A1646)

"Patrons of the Genealogical Library in Salt Lake City have a unique opportunity to identify and learn about their forefathers. Perhaps nowhere can they find greater evidence of family ties between this generation and preceding ones than in the library's 1.25 million reels of microfilmed records from throughout the world..." [Mayfield, David M., p. 111]

Historical Records Survey. New Hampshire. Inventory of the Roman Catholic Church Records in New Hampshire. Manchester, NH: Catholic Diocese, 1938.
One of numerous surveys produced by individual citizens who worked for the Works Progress Administration (WPA) during the Depression years.

Mayfield, David M. "The Genealogical Library of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints". Library Trends 32, no. 1 (Summer 1983):111-127.
The Mormon Church has done more for genealogical research than any other organization in the history of mankind. The Director of the Genealogical Library describes this unique information center whose purpose is to gather records on everyone who has ever lived.
(Baker/Z/671/.L6173)

"Americans become interested in their ancestry for many reasons. Sometimes that interest stops with momentary curiosity; but for millions, it has developed into a full-scale passion... But whether amateur or professional, everyone starts with the same question: 'Where do I begin?'". [Dougherty, Richard W. in The Source: A Guidebook of American Genealogy, p. 31]

U.S. National Archives and Records Service. Preliminary Inventory. No. 1, 1941-
This agency is responsible for administering the archival records of the federal government. To assist in making these valuable resources accessible, archivists have prepared helpful finding aids that describe the contents of these numerous documents (e.g., the records of Department of State).

"There is much more information floating around about your family and mine than you would expect. A great deal of it is in obscure and unlikely places. The Mormon Church in Salt Lake City, for example, has what may well be the most complete set of genealogical records in the world... Mormons study their genealogies--in order to identify their ancestors and gain salvation for them. That may sound like silly superstition. And yet... each time I have uncovered the name of one of my long-forgotten ancestors I have been filled with the mystical feeling that I was indeed rescuing that ancestor--not from hellfile, perhaps, but from oblivion. They did walk this earth, our ancestors, once upon a time, and they are still out there, somewhere. There is much they can teach us even now, if we can find them". [Rottenberg, Dan. Finding Our Fathers, p. 9)

CENSUS DATA

"The federal census has proved to be a rich source of material for genealogist, historical researchers, and social scientists, for these decennial stocktakings are a storehouse of facts and figures about the American people. The information is found on the original handwritten census returns (the schedules) compiled by the census takers as they visited all types of households and homes throughout the nation. The data gathered on the original returns provided the basis for the published volumes". [Provenzano, Dominic. "Baker's Federal Population Census Schedules". Dartmouth College Library Bulletin 20(NS), no. 1 (Nov. 1979): 39-49]

The following list includes only those published federal and state records (both printed and microfilm) that provide information on individual families. For more detailed information, please consult the article listed above or the several guides suggested in the "Guide to Research Materials in the Reference Room".

JONES MICROTEXT CENTER

The Jones Microtext Center, located at the northeast end of the lower floor (Reserve Corridor/Orozco Frescoes) of Baker Library opposite the Map Room, houses an extensive collection of microform material which includes newspapers, journals, personal papers, city directories, census data, and a large variety of government documents. The Center also contains an unusual collection of pre-twentieth century printed New Hampshire newspapers.

Microform material is information stored in reduced size on photographic film. Microform is a general term for the three basic types: microfilm, microfiche, and micro-opaque.

For more detailed information about the Jones Microtext Center, please refer to the publication A User's Guide to the Jones Microtext Center.

TO CONTRIBUTORS: Matter for the Genealogical department has accumulated to such an extent that it is impossible to insert queries as soon as they are received. In sending matter to this department the following rules must be absolutely observed:

1. Names and dates must be clearly written. 2. The full name and address of the writer must be given. 3. Make all queries brief and clear. 4. Write on one side of the paper only. Do not use postal cards. 5. In answering queries, the date of the paper, the number of the query and signature must be given. Answers will be published soon after receipt. 6. All letters received are presumably for publication, but if they are to be forwarded to contributors they must be sent in blank, stamped envelopes, accompanied by the number of the query and its signature.

As most of our correspondents do not care to reply to letters excepting through the Transcript, it is unnecessary to ask the editor if he has forwarded mail as requested. Do not send letters to be forwarded excepting in accordance with Rule 6. Remember that a blank, stamped envelope must be used.

Each separate query must be accompanied by a Two-Cent Stamp.

RARE BOOOKS

Among the large variety of materials of interest to the genealogist/family historian in Special Collections, located on Baker Library's main floor, northwest corner, is the Gilman D. Frost card file (ca. 7,500 cards) of Hanover, New Hampshire families extending from the founding of Hanover to the early 1900's. Families in the Lyme and Enfield areas are also represented by additional files. The papers of Vernon Hood, a collector from Plainfield, New Hampshire, also contain genealogies for families in the New Hampshire communities of Plainfield and Cornish. Here, too, are the Dartmouth College cemetery records compiled by Professor Arthur Chivers.

Extensive and valuable collections of primary sources which include letters, diaries, journals and collections of personal and family papers are also maintained in Special Collections. Among these are the papers of:

ENFIELD, NEW HAMPSHIRE: Material on Enfield Shakers covering the period 1761-1973.

HARTLAND, VERMONT: Covers the period 1750-1950.

WEBSTER, DANIEL: Dartmouth College's most famous graduate. Microfilmed papers in Jones Microtext Center.

WEEKS FAMILY: Correspondence, diaries and documents chiefly relating to the family's settlement in Lancaster, New Hampshire. Includes separate papers of Senator John W. Weeks and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks. Covers the period 1669-1972.

WHITE MOUNTAINS: A unique collection of books and pamphlets concerning New Hampshire's White Mountains.

WRIGHT FAMILY: 19th Century Missionaries to Near East.

The College Archives maintains an exhaustive collection of documents, historical records and other sources pertaining to the history of the College and of Hanover. Items include letters, student publications, photographs and other iconography, and realia (canes, hats, mugs, etc.) in addition to official publications.

Chapman, George T. Sketches of the Alumni of Dartmouth College, From the First Graduation in 1771 to the Present Time, With a Brief History of the Institution. Cambridge, MA: Riverside Press, 1867.
Fascinating biographical information on the graduates of Dartmouth College. In addition to the directories from this institution, the Library owns a number of alumni directories from other universities throughout the world. These are located in Baker Stacks and the Reference Room.

The Carnegie Library in Delaware, Ohio, opened on September 2, 1906. Prior to that, the library was housed in various places in the city including a doctor's office, a jewelry store and the Masonic Lodge. In 1951, the library was designated as the district library for Delaware County and in 1983 the building was placed on the National Register of Historic Places.
